Walla Walla, WA 99362

To Whom it May Concern,

Sturgeon Electric Company, Inc. (Sturgeon) was awarded a contract from PacifiCorp dba Pacific Power to construction a new 230 kV Transmission Line Project. This project involves the construction of a new 230-kilovolt (kV) transmission line from the Bonneville Power Administration's (BPA's) McNary substation near Umatilla, Oregon, to PacifiCorp's Wallula substation near Wallula, Washington. The total line length is 29.06 miles, of which 22.33 miles are in Umatilla County, Oregon, and 6.73 miles are in Walla Walla County, Washington. In Oregon, 18.70 miles of the transmission line will be on private property. In Washington, 4.40 miles of the transmission line would be on private property.

Construction activities will involve new or improved access to work areas, grading of level work sites, excavation for structures, assembly and erection of structures, stringing of conductor and reclamation. Pacific Power has procured all the necessary permits and easements for this project and construction is to begin on July 16, 2018 and be completed by November 2018.

Part of the environmental requirements in both the Plan of Development and Stormwater Pollution Plan is to provide adequate dust abatement to control fugitive dust. Sturgeon is proposing to withdraw water from the Columbia River on NW Grain Growers property near the Port of Wallula and use this water for dust abatement.

In order to withdraw water from the Columbia River, Sturgeon must obtain a permit from the Washington Department of Ecology. As part of the permit application, Sturgeon must obtain the signature of landowners where this dust control water will be used (i.e. place of use), the certification and signature statement is attached. Since Two structures and temporary access (see attached map) is required across the county's parcel (TAX ID 310603110003), it is likely dust control will be required. This will involve water trucks spraying active work areas to control dust. Active construction is likely to be on the county's parcel for a couple weeks, although intermittent construction activities may occur on the parcel throughout the project for stringing conductor, testing, etc. As noted above construction is expected to be complete by November of 2018.

Please feel free to contact myself or James Lake (Project Superintendent, 503-718-4294) if you have any questions about construction activities. We are hoping to submit, this application as soon as possible and your review of this request is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Holly Dodge
